IT'S NOT PART OF THE JOB

STOP WORKPLACE VIOLENCE

Battery is defined as intentionally causing bodily harm or threats to cause harm.

Wisconsin's current State Statute Chapter 940.20 Battery: special circumstances provide penalties for battery to an emergency department employee resulting in a Level H Felony which can be a $10,000 fine and/or six years of incarceration.

Data show that nurses are victims of battery beyond the emergency room. Practice settings where assaults are taking place include the following:

- other units of the hospital
- nursing homes
- psychiatric facilities
- outpatient
- schools

Nurses are subjected to

- Physical assault: punched, bitten, kicked, stabbed, and/or hit.
- Verbal assault: name calling, swearing, threats, and/or intimidation.
- Sexual assault: actual assault, harassed with sexual language and/or innuendos.

THIS SHOULD NOT BE PART OF THE JOB FOR A NURSE.

SOLUTION: Amend State Statue Chapter 940.20 to include all registered nurses, licensed practical nurses and those workers that are supervised by the RN regardless of their work setting.

By amending 940.20 employers of nurses can notify the public that physical, verbal or sexual assault will not be tolerated.

HYPERTENSION EXPERT CLINICAL PANEL

RECOMMENDATIONS FOR HYPERTENSION MANAGEMENT IN WISCONSIN
NOVEMBER 2017

This WNA panel developed recommendations designed to identify and treat persons with undiagnosed or uncontrolled hypertension through the use of patient-centered team-based care. The experts emphasize the importance of sustainable linkages between health systems and the community.

WNA
WISCONSIN NURSES ASSOCIATION

Using Patient-Centered Team-Based Care to Improve Hypertension Prevention, Detection, and Management in Wisconsin
November 2017

WNA is pleased to present WNA's Interprofessional Clinical Hypertension Expert Panel Recommendations. This document was developed to provide clinical and community settings conceptual and pragmatic recommendations for improving the prevention, detection and management of hypertension.

One of every three adults in Wisconsin has hypertension or approximately 1.3 million Wisconsin adults. Less than half of adults with hypertension are adequately in control (46%). Among those with uncontrolled hypertension, many adults (40%) are unaware they have it, and another 45% of adults with uncontrolled hypertension are seeking treatment, but it is still not in control. Nearly 90% of U.S. adults with uncontrolled hypertension have a usual source of health care and insurance, representing a missed opportunity for hypertension control (Centers for Disease Control and Prevention [CDC], 2012).

This publication includes background, the recommendations and listing of contributors. These recommendations are framed under three core elements of our Patient-Centered Team-Based Care Model: (1) Parent Organization, (2) Interprofessional Teams, and (3) Community. You can find this model on WNA's website www.wisconsinnurses.org under the "Practice" tab.

The concepts also represent a call to practical action by health systems (herein known as parent organizations) and interprofessional patient health care teams, as well as state and local health departments, institutions of higher education, professional organizations/societies, and others. WNA encourages systemwide collaboration and partnerships between health systems and communities to accelerate improvements in the prevention, detection, and management of hypertension and other chronic diseases throughout Wisconsin.
